WORDS OF KINDNESS.

Ever speak in tones of kindness
To the sad and weary heart;
Never let an unkind answer
Cause the bitter tear to start;
For how many spirits broken,
Crushed beneath a world of care,
Have been cheered by kind words spoken—
Cheered their weary load to bear.

None the human soul can fathom,
None its mysteries explore;
'Tis a wonderful creation,
Launched on time's eventful shore;
And while each its wings shall trammel,
Few the pages we may read,
But in glory we may view it,
When from mortal vesture freed.

Like an instrument of music,
It is delicately strung,
Then ne'er let a note of sorrow
From its tender chords be wrung!
But let gentle words awaken
Sounds of joy, and peace, and love,
Such as angel choirs are breathing
In the courts of light above.

Then ever speak in tones of kindness
To the sorrow-stricken heart;
And never let a word or action
Cause the bitter tear to start;
For how many spirits broken,
Bound beneath a load of care,
Have been cheered by kind words spoken—
Cheered their daily cross to bear!

WORDS.

If words could satisfy the heart,
The heart might find less care,
But words, like Summer birds, depart,
And leave but empty air.
The heart, a pilgrim on the earth,
Pines often, when it needs,
That words are of as little worth
As just so many weeds.

A little said—and truly said—
Can deeper joy impart
Than hosts of words, which reach the head,
but never touch the heart.
The voice that wins its sunny way,
A lonely home to cheer,
Hath oft the fewest words to say,
But O! those few—how dear!

Miscellaneous.

A Mother's Hand.

In one of the fierce engagements with the rebels near Mechanicsville, in May, a young lieutenant of a Rhode Island Battery had his right foot so shattered by a fragment of shell, that on reaching Washington after one of those horrible ambulance rides, and a journey of a week's duration, he was obliged to undergo amputation of the leg. He telegraphed home, hundreds of miles away, that all was going well, and with a soldier's fortitude composed himself to bear his sufferings alone. Unknown to him, however, his mother, who had become anxious for the welfare of her son, had come to Washington. She reached the city at midnight, and the nurses would have kept her from him until morning. One sat by his side fanning him as he slept, her hand on the feeble fluctuating pulsations which foreboded sad results. But what woman's heart could resist the pleadings of a mother then? In the darkness, she was finally allowed to glide in and take the place at his side. She touched his pulse as the nurse had done. Not a word had been spoken; but the sleeping boy opened his eyes and said: "That feels like my mother's hand. Who is this beside me? It is my mother; turn up the gas, and let me see mother!" the two faces meeting in one long, joyful, sobbing embrace, and the fondness pent up in each heart sobbed and panted and wept forth its expression. The gallant fellow, just twenty one, his leg amputated on the last day of his three years' service, underwent operation after operation, and at last, when death drew nigh, and he was told by tearful friends that it only remained to make him comfortable, said "he had looked death in the face too many times to be afraid now," and died as gallantly as though falling under the enemy's fire, on the field of battle.

Marriage in Lapland.

It is death in Lapland to marry a maid without the consent of her parents or friends. When a young man has formed an attachment for a female, the fashion is to appoint their friends to meet to behold the two young parties run a race together. The maid is allowed in starting the advantage of one third part of the race, so that it is impossible, except willing of herself, that she should be overtaken. If the maid outrun her suitor, the matter is ended; he must never have her, it being penalty for the man to renew the motion of marriage. But if the virgin has an affection for him, though at first she runs fast to try the truth of his love, she will (without Atalanta's golden balls to retard her speed) pretend some casualty, and make a voluntary halt before she comes to the mark or end of the race. Thus none are compelled to marry against their own wills; and this is the cause that in this poor country the married people are richer in their own contentment than in other lands, where so many forced matches make feigned love, and cause real unhappiness.

A FACT.—In a distant city, the wife of one of the city fathers presented her husband with three children at a birth. The delighted father took his little daughter, four years old, to see her new relations.—She looked at the little beings a few minutes, when turning to her father, she asked, "Pa, which one are you going to keep?"

☞A practitioner being asked by his patient why he put so many ingredients into his prescriptions, is said to have answered, "In order that the disease may take which it likes best."

WINTER EVENINGS.

Summer, with its rich verdure and gay song birds, has gone; Autumn, with its mellow fruits, its crimson foliage, and its golden sunsets is fast waning to a close, and on the distant mountain tops we can hear almost the neighing of the northern steeds that will soon be whirling Boreas in his icy chariot through our valley. The labors of the husbandman are well nigh completed, the fruits of the earth are garnered, the forests swing their naked branches to the gale, and all nature has assumed her winter garb and now calmly awaits its approach.

Winter is far from being a joyless season of the year. It charms us, because it with frolicks what would otherwise be a dull monotony of nature. Perpetual summer would soon weary us and undermine our health.—Winter, too, is promotive of sociality and friendship. It gathers us around cheerful firesides for pleasant chat, instead of scattering us through the fields and forests, sending us off to watering places, to the sea side, or putting us to sleep to dream through the heat of a sultry Summer afternoon. Cowper appreciated this when he said,

"I crown thee king of intimate delights,
Fireside enjoyments, home-born happiness,
And all the comforts that the lowly roof
Of undisturbed retirement, and the hours
Of long, uninterrupted evening know."

These long winter evenings afford precious opportunities for mental culture, as well as for healthful and innocent amusement, and should not be wasted in idleness, or killed by hurtful dissipation. How many of us have any plan or system devised for profitably and pleasantly filling up these golden hours? They are coming, are here now in fact, and will rapidly pass away whether we improve them or not. The young, especially, we would urge to use them to advantage. Many of our readers who are still young have nevertheless passed their school days, and this opportunity for improvement is now beyond their reach.—The winter evenings, however, if not misused, will enable them to atone, in some measure, for the neglect and heedlessness of their earliest years. The wide field of science, literature, and the arts, are open to research. They may brush up their mathematics, they may enlarge their knowledge of the natural sciences, they may study History, make a start at the ancient classics, may elevate their taste by contact with refined and ennobling literature, all these and many other plans of improvement may be followed up during the long evenings that will intervene between now and the opening spring. Nor should innocent amusements be wanting. Our mental and physical constitutions are not calculated to endure an endless succession of labor and rest. We must be amused if we would be healthy and cheerful. The oldest of us—at least all of us to whom the grasshopper has not yet become a burden—are but grown up children, and our natures demand relaxation and amusement as imperatively, though not as constantly, as in our earliest years. What are innocent amusements? To answer by a synonym, they are harmless amusements; those which injure neither ourselves nor others. Such amusements are not merely negative in their tendency. If they are hurtful, either per se, or by their excessive indulgence, they are largely beneficial. They promote health, cheerfulness, buoyancy of spirits, and strengthen us for the sterner duties of life which await us on every new coming day.

Social parties, too, if there should not happen to be a redundancy of fools invited, furnish pleasant and not unprofitable means of spending an occasional evening. We will not attempt to pursue any farther this list of profitable work or innocent amusements for winter evenings, but leave our readers to make their own selections, only asking that these precious evenings be not frittered away in idleness nor blackened with records of wicked dissipation and crime. Remember that the Winter which is now approaching will come to you but once, and will never record your past upon it will stand there unalterably and forever.—Star of the Valley.

Clannish Pride.

A dispute arose between Campbell and McLean upon the subject of genealogy.—McLean would not allow that the Campbells had any right with the McLeans in antiquity, who, he insisted, were in existence as a clan from the beginning of the world. Campbell had a little more biblical lore than his antagonist, and asked him if the clan of McLean was before the flood.

"Flood! what flood?" said McLean.

"The flood, you know, that drowned all the world but Noah and his family and his flocks," said Campbell.

"Pooh! you and your floods!" said McLean, "my clan was before the flood."

"I have not read in my Bible," said Campbell, "of the name of McLean going into Noah's ark."

"Noah's ark!" retorted the other, with contempt; "who ever heard of a McLean that had not a boat of his own?"

☞A young woman in Jackson, Mich., has been carrying on the recruiting business in an original and highly peculiar manner. She marries a man on condition that he will enlist and give her his bounty. She being strikingly handsome, the man consents. After he is gone she marries another. Four men has she thus wedded and sent to the army. On the fifth occasion she was detected.

☞"I'm glad this coffee don't owe me anything," said an accountant at his breakfast.

"Why so?" inquired his wife.

"Because, I don't believe it would ever settle."

Habits

Habit is the effect of custom; the power of doing anything acquired by the frequent repetition of the same action. Habits are generally formed in childhood and youth, and may be either good or bad.

When I see children unmannerly and rude, I am quite sure that they will lack manners when they become older. Their bad habits will not leave them when they become men and women. "O the dreadful power of habit!" exclaimed a professing Christian, bursting into tears, and confessing his sin. "In an unguarded moment he uttered words. "I began to swear when a child," he continued, "and I kept on swearing until the habit arrested me; and now, even now it is wicked habit sticks upon me when I am not thinking." Swearers in childhood and youth—and I am sorry to say there are many—make the violent swearers in manhood.

Some very small boys begin to take a whiff at the pipe, or a chew of tobacco, just because they see their father or some other person smoke or chew. They soon form a habit, and by and by they become inveterate tobacco users.

Others, when quite young, are treated to a sip of liquor by their parents or friends. Soon they get a relish for strong drink, which lays the foundation of a habit, become confirmed drunkards, and finally they fill a drunkard's grave!

Some children relate an anecdote or a story that they have heard with a little variation; they stretch the truth a little; until after a while they cannot tell truth from falsehood, and more often utter the latter than the former.

Some commence the habit of stealing by taking little things from their parents or playmates, and they go on step by step taking still greater things, until at last they end their days in prison!

Those who commence in early life to spend the precious Sabbath in idleness or play, instead of attending the Sabbath school or going to the house of God, are generally vicious and unhappy, and good people shun them.

Before commencing any practice or habit, however trifling it may appear, consider carefully what it may lead to; for important consequences flow from trifling beginnings.

Strive to form good habits, to store your mind with useful knowledge; to be honest, industrious, temperate, truthful, studious, and persevering. Pray for the direction and assistance of your heavenly Father, that you may be enabled to shun all bad habits in early life, for that is the only true way to escape them when you become old.

The End of our Great Men.

The four great personages occupying the most conspicuous places in the world's history were Alexander, Hannibal, Cæsar, and Bonaparte.

Alexander,—after having climbed the dizzy heights of his ambition, and with his temples bound with chaplets dipped in the blood of countless millions, looked down upon a conquered world and wept that there was not another world for him to conquer—set a city on fire and died in a scene of debauch.

Hannibal,—after having, to the astonishment and consternation of Rome, passed the Alps, and having put to flight the armies of the mistress of the world, and stripped three bushels of golden rings from the fingers of her slaughtered knights, and made her foundations quake, fled from his country, being hated by those who once exultingly united his name to that of their god, and called him Hani Baal, and died at last, by poison administered by his own hand, unlamented and unwept, in a foreign land.

Cæsar,—after having conquered eight hundred cities and dyeing his garments in the blood of one million of his foes—after having pursued to death the only rival he had on earth, was miserably assassinated by those whom he considered his nearest friends; and in that very place, the attainment of which had been his greatest ambition.

Bonaparte,—whose mandates kings and popes obeyed, after having filled the earth with terror of his name—after having deluged Europe with tears of blood, and the world with sackcloth, closed his days in lonely banishment, almost literally exiled from the world, yet where he could sometimes see his country's banner waving over the deep, but which could not bring him aid.

☞During the last winter, a "contraband" came into the Federal lines in North Carolina, and was marched up to the officer of the day to give an account of himself, whereupon the following colloquy ensued between them:

"What's your name?"

"My name's Sam."

"Sam what?"

"No, sah; not Sam what. I'se jist Sam."

"What's your other name?"

"I hasn't got no oder name, sah. I'se Sam—dat's all."

"What's your master's name?"

"I'se got no massa now, massa runned away,—yah! yah! I'se got none, Sah—neber had none. I'se jist Sam—ain't nobody else."

"Have not you any brothers and sisters?"

"No, Sah! neber had none. No brudder, no sister, no fadder, no mudder, no massa—nothin but Sam, you see all dere is of us."

☞When a wife hugs her husband, it is always because she wants to 'get round' him.

Feminine Devotedness.

At Lyons, when that city became the theatre of daily executions, a woman learned by chance that her husband's name was on the list of the proscribed, and instantly ran to avert the impending destruction, by securing his immediate flight. She compelled him to assume her dress, gave him her money and jewels, and had the inexpressible happiness of seeing him pass unsuspected. A few hours afterwards the officers of justice came to seize him. She had prepared herself to receive them, by putting on a suit of her husband's clothes, and answering also to his name. She was led before the revolutionary committee. In the course of the examination her disguise was discovered, and they demanded of her husband. "My husband," she answered, in a tone of exultation, "is out of the reach of your power. I planned his escape, and I glory in risking my own life for the preservation of his." They displayed before her the instrument of punishment, and charged her to reveal the route her husband had taken. "Strike!" she replied; "I am prepared." "But it is the interest of your country that command you to speak," said one of the committee. "Barbarians!" she answered, "my country cannot command me to outrage the sacred laws of nature."

Her dignity and firmness awed even the members of the revolutionary committee, and a noble action for once overcame their spirit of desolating cruelty.

The Married State.

It is considered a noteworthy circumstance for a man or woman to have been married three times; but of old this number would have been thought but little of. St. Jerome mentions a widow that married her twenty-second husband, who in his turn had been married to twenty wives—surely an experienced couple.

A woman named Elizabeth Masi, who died at Florence in 1768, had been married to seven husbands, all of whom she outlived. She married the last of the seven at the age of 70. When on her death bed she recalled the good and bad points in each of her husbands, and having impartially weighed them in the balance, she singled out her fifth spouse as the favorite, and desired that her remains might be interred near his

The death of a soldier is recorded, in 1784, who had had five wives, and his widow, aged 80, wept over the grave of her fourth husband. The writer who mentioned these facts gravely added: "The said soldier was much attached to the marriage state."

There is an account of a gentleman who had been married to four wives, and who lived to be 115 years old. When he died he left twenty-three children alive and well, some of the said children being from three to four score.

A gentleman died at Bordeaux in 1772 who had been married sixteen times.

In July, 1768, a couple were living in Essex, who had been married eighty one years, the husband being 107 and the wife 103 years of age.

At the church of St Clement, Danes, in 1772, a woman of 85 was married to her fifth husband.

THE OLD COUNTRIES.—Crowded as England is with a hungry population, five per cent of her soil is not under cultivation. Yet the proportion of cultivated to the uncultivated land, is higher in England than in any other country in Europe. In Russia, less than one fifth of the soil is under cultivation; in Sweden, only one-seventh; in Austria and Holland, one fifth; in Switzerland, one-fourth; in France, fifty four hundredths. There is really no need of emigration. In England, as appears by a parliamentary report, there are sixteen millions of acres, wholly unproductive, that might easily be made productive. The reason why these acres are permitted to lie unimproved is, that as soon as they are enclosed, and before they can be sufficiently reclaimed to produce a paying crop, they become subject to tithe and tax. Hence, only men of large capital dare undertake the task, and they prefer to invest their capital where the return is more speedy and more certain.

Negro Wit.

Said a gentleman the other day to a servant at the hotel where he was stopping:

'Bless my soul, Sambo, how black you are; how in the name of wonder did you get so black?'

'Why look'a here, Massa, do reason am dis—de day dis chile was born dey was an eclipse.'

Ebony received a quarter for his satisfactory explanation, and after grinning thanks continued:

'I tell what it is, massa, dis nigger may be brack, but he ain't green nowhow.'

☞Pat was employed at a furnace. He was ordered to take the two-wheeled cart with the oxen, and draw some iron to a particular spot and dump it. He brought the load to the place designed, and after gesticulating wildly before his meek oxen, exclaimed: 'Rare up! rare up! ye bastes, and throw the load overboard.'

☞The following advertisement appears under the head of a "Wife Wanted," in an Arkansas paper:

'Any gal what's got a bed, coffee pot, skillet, knows how to cut out britches, can make a huntin' shirt, and knows how to take care of children, can have my services until death parts both of us.'

☞Lovers, like armies, get along quietly enough till they are engaged.

Monkey in Church.

There was once an eminent clergyman by the name of Cassauben, who kept in his family a tame monkey, of which he was very fond. This animal, which was allowed its liberty, liked to follow the minister when he went out, but on the Sabbath was usually shut up till his owner was out of sight, on his way to church. But one Sabbath morning, when the clergyman, taking his sermon under his arm, went out, the money followed him, unobserved, and watching the opportunity while his master was speaking to a gentleman on the steps, ran up at the back of the pulpit, and gravely seated himself, looking around in a knowing manner on the congregation, who were greatly amused at so strange a spectacle. The services proceeded, as usual, while the monkey, who evidently much enjoyed the sight of so many people, occasionally peeped over the sounding board, to observe the movements of his master, who was unconscious of his presence. When the sermon commenced, many little forms were convulsed with laughter, which conduct so shocked the good pastor that he thought it his duty to administer a reproof, which he did with considerable action of his hands and arms. The monkey, who had now become familiar with the scene, imitated every motion, till at last a scarcely suppressed smile appeared upon the countenance of most of the audience. This occurred, too, in one of the most solemn passages in the discourse; and so horrible did the levity appear to the good minister, that he launched forth into violent rebuke, every word being enforced by great energy of action. All this time the little fellow overhead mimicked every movement with ardor and exactness. The audience, witnessing the apparent competition between the good man and his monkey, could no longer retain the least appearance of composure, and burst into roars of laughter, in the midst of which one of the congregation kindly relieved the horror of the pastor at the irreverence and impiety of his flock, by pointing out the cause of the merriment. Casting his eyes upward, the minister could just discern the animal standing on the end of the sounding board, and gesturing with all his might, when he found it difficult to control himself, though highly exasperated at the occurrence. He gave a few directions to have the monkey removed, and sat down to compose himself, and allow his congregation to recover their equanimity while the order was being obeyed.

EXTRAORDINARY SELF STARVATION.—An inquiry was held at Hackney, on the 10th, respecting the death of Mr. Jacob Patterson, aged forty years, the son of a magistrate of the county of Essex. During the present year he exhibited a strong suicidal tendency. In April last he was arrested for going upon a railway and lying down at length with his head upon the rails as a train was approaching. While in the House of Detention, he made such frequent attempts upon his life that he was pronounced to be insane, and he was removed to the Pembroke House Lunatic Asylum, in Hackney. For the last five weeks he resolutely refused to take food, and although he was compelled to swallow some by means of the stomach pump, he speedily became so reduced that for a month past he was unable to get out of bed. He died from atrophy, caused by starvation; and so extreme was the state of emaciation to which he had brought himself, that his body, when viewed by a jury, presented the appearance of a skeleton covered with skin.

OIL OR GAS WELLS IN CHINA.—In the districts of Young Han, and of Meisonug Han, in China, there exists a large number of salt water wells extending over a space of about six leagues, which are actively explored by the neighboring population.—From the mouth of these wells arise columns of inflammable air, so that if a torch be applied to the opening, globes of fire of from twenty to thirty feet high are seen to arise, shining with a brilliant light. The Chinese arch over these sources of gas with long bamboo tubes, and the gas communicated through these tubes serves to illuminate the machines by which the salt wells and the places where they are situated are explored. It thus appears that gas, so much admired in Europe and America, was known to the Chinese centuries ago.

A SHARP ANSWER.—At one of the hotels in New York one morning, the landlord said to a boarder:

"See here, Mr. ——, the chambermaid found a woman's hairpin in your bed this morning, and it will not answer."

"Well," replied the boarder, "I found a woman's hair in the butter this morning, but it did not prove that you had a woman in it."

The two men looked at each other for about ten seconds, when each smiled and went his way, no doubt pondering over the peculiarities of circumstantial evidence.

☞The taking of the testimony in the case of the St. Albans raiders is still in progress at Montreal, but proceeds rather slowly. It is said that in case the Canadian authorities decide to surrender them the raiders will have no right of appeal to the courts of Great Britain. The Canadian Government has, it is asserted, made preparations to seriously interfere with any future attempt at raiding across the Canada border.

The Chirography of Grant and Lee.

A Richmond correspondent of the Savannah Republican, referring to the late correspondence between Gens. Grant and Lee in reference to the relief of our prisoners at the South, says:

The correspondence between Gen. Lee and Gen. Grant is now before me, and I have been much struck by the handwriting of these two ablest generals the war has brought forward on either side. Gen. Lee's handwriting is bold and rather stiff, his letters being large, round, and very distinct. He bears heavily upon the pen—probably a goose quill—and abbreviates many words, as if writing were a labor to him. The following in an exact transcript of the first sentence in his letter to Gen. Grant:

"General—I have read your letter of the 18th inst., accomp'g copies of letters from Judge Ould Comm'r of Exchange of pris'rs on the part of the Conf'ate States & the Hon'ble E. M. Stanton Sec'y of War Lt. Col Mulford Asst. Comm'r of Exc. of the U. States"

He does not, as you perceive, punctuate closely; and nowhere in his letter does he write out the word "and," but invariably uses the abbreviation "&." And yet he pauses long enough to dot all his "i's," and cross all his "t's." All his letters are drawn nearly straight up and down the paper; in other words, they are like himself, round, full, bold and upright, inclining neither to the right or left, and standing firmly on their base, as if they disdained all assistance. They are so clear and precise, so round and weighty, and distinct, that each letter reminds one frequently of a solid cannon ball, and each word of a cluster of grapeshot.

Gen. Grant's handwriting, on the contrary, though not so bold and distinct, nor the letters so large and round and erect, is, nevertheless, very legible and very striking. It is full of energy and action, and his letters all incline to the right, and follow one after another with a little space between them as if they represented an equal number of his brigades on a rapid march round Lee's right. Among chirographers his hand would be called a running hand. The words occupy much space from left to right, and still they are very clear and legible.—He pays more attention to punctuation than Gen. Lee, abbreviates less, and is equally careful of his i's and t's. It may be the work of imagination, yet in reading his letter I cannot but picture the writer as a restless, nervous, energetic man, full of fire and action, always in motion, and always in a hurry.

☞Persons living in cities begin to wear glasses earlier than country people, from the want of opportunities of looking at things at a distance. Those who wish to put off the evil day of spectacles, should accustom themselves to long views. The eye is always relieved, and sees better, if, after reading awhile, we direct the sight to some far-distant object, even for a minute. Great travelers and hunters are seldom near-sighted. Humboldt at eighty seven could read unaided. Sailors discern objects at a great distance with considerable distinctness when a common eye sees nothing at all.

ATTACKED BY CROWS.—A gentleman residing in Wheeling went hunting a few days since, and not finding any better game he took a shot at a lot of crows that were crawing in the woods. He wounded one of the birds in the wing, and when it fluttered to the ground the gentleman picked it up. The hurt bird cried most piteously, when suddenly the whole flock came to its assistance and made an attack upon the hunter. They darted about his head, and picked and scratched him with such violence, that he was obliged to defend himself with a stick, and was finally compelled to let the wounded crow go and beat a hasty retreat.

☞In matters of great concern, and which must be done, there is no surer argument of a weak mind than irresolution, to be undetermined, where the case is so plain, and the necessity so urgent; to be always intending to live a new life, but never to find time to set about it; this is as if a man should put off eating and drinking and sleeping from one day and night to another, till he is starved and destroyed.

☞"Contractors!" exclaimed a friend of the late Gen. McClellan, upon being twitted on the result of the election. Yes, contractors; the loyal people of the North have contracted to put down this causeless rebellion, and they have the best possible evidence of their purpose to fulfill the contract on Tuesday. The people are the contractors that have re-elected Abraham Lincoln.

☞Boxes of blank commissions for the Confederate army have been sent to Canada and subscriptions are being made to pay the expenses of organizing raids from Canada across the frontier. They had better prepare for another and better world before they come into the United States as raiders.

☞Life is a constant struggle for riches, which we must soon leave behind. They seem given to us, as the nurse gives a plaything to a child, to amuse it until it falls asleep.

☞"Paddy," said a wag, "your ears are too long." "Divil a bit ov throubble does that give me, but yours are too short altogether for the [illegible] baste that yees be."

☞When you are trying to sleep, it is not pleasant to hear two dogs, half a mile apart, discussing a dogmatical difference of opinion.

Barlow's Indigo Blue.

DEALERS and Consumers of the above CELEBRATED WASH BLUE, will please take notice, that the LABELS are altered to read INDIGO BLUE, put up at

Alfred Wiltberger's Drug Store,
No. 233 North Second Street, Philadelphia.

The quality of this Blue will be the same in every respect.

It is warranted to color more water than twice the same quantity of Indigo, and to go much further than any other Wash Blue in the Market. It dissolves perfectly clear and does not settle on the clothes as most of the other makes do. One Box dissolved in a half pint of water, will make as good a Liquid Blue as any that is made, at one third the cost.

As it is retailed at the same price as the Imitations and Inferior Articles, housekeepers will find it very much to their advantage to ask for that put up at WILTBERGER'S.

☞All Blue put up after this date with BARLOW'S name on it is an IMITATION.

THE NEW LABEL DOES NOT REQUIRE A STAMP.

☞For Sale by Storekeepers generally.

French Breakfast and Dinner

COFFEE.

OWING to the very high price of Coffee, and the great difficulty in procuring a good, uniform and reliable article, our customers have often expressed a wish that they could be supplied from first hands. It was the intention of the

to do a strictly Tea business, but as we have had some customers living at a distance that have relied upon us to supply them exclusively with Tea and Coffee, it being inconvenient for them to come to New York, The GREAT TEA AND COFFEE EMPORIUM of this country—and as our Tea Taster was possessed of information relating to a Coffee that could be furnished at a moderate price, and give universal satisfaction, and at the same time afford the retailer a handsome profit—we have been compelled to supply those parties. THIS COFFEE HAS BECOME SO POPULAR with our customers and their sales have increased to such an extent that we have been compelled to make large additions to our machinery, which will enable us to supply a few more customers with it. We will therefore send it to those who may order.

It is Fast Superseding all other Coffees.

This Coffee has been used for more than a century in Paris, and since its introduction into this country it has been in use by some of the leading French Restaurants here.—The Parisians are said to be the best judges of coffee; and the great favor in which it is held by them is the best recommendation that can be produced for its fine flavor and healthy effects upon the human system.

We put up but one grade of this Coffee, and that is of a quality that our customers have found from experience will give perfect satisfaction and meet all the demands of their trade. It is the lowest price that we can recommend.

We do all our business on the most extensive scale, buy by the cargo and sell at only two cents per pound profit.

We put up this Coffee in Barrels only, of 125 Pounds each. This method of putting it up saves from two to five cents per pound to the consumer, and by its being in a large quantity it retains its fine flavor much longer in this form than in any other. We send with each barrel Show-Cards, Circulars and Posters, to assist the dealer to introduce it to his customers. We hope our customers will take pains to have them well posted up and distributed, as it will be to their advantage to do so.

This Coffee we warrant to give perfect satisfaction, and if it does not please, the purchaser has the privilege of returning the whole or any part of it within 60 days, and having his money refunded, together with all the expenses of transportation both ways.

We issue a Price Circular of our TEAS and COFFEES, which we are glad to send free to all who wish it. Consumers of Coffee should inquire for the FRENCH BREAKFAST AND DINNER COFFEE and be sure that it was purchased of the

FOR SALE BY,
SHEADS & BUEHLER,
GETTYSBURG, PA.

FROM innumerable recommendations, we gather the following:

Letter from Mrs. Henry Ward Beecher, in 1861.

I am most happy to speak in the very highest terms of the "UNIVERSAL CLOTHES-WRINGER." The hardest part of "washing day" work is in my opinion, the wringing; and the inventor of this machine may have the satisfaction of feeling that he has changed one of the most toilsome parts of woman's work into a very attractive amusement. The laundress looks upon upon it as a great blessing. I look upon it as among the most useful articles in the house.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

ONE OF THE OLDEST AND MOST RELIABLE REMEDIES IN THE WORLD FOR

Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, Hoarseness, Sore Throat, Croup and every affection of

THE THROAT, LUNGS AND CHEST, INCLUDING EVEN CONSUMPTION.

WISTAR'S BALSAM OF WILD CHERRY.

So general has the use of this remedy become, and so popular is it everywhere that it is unnecessary to recount its virtues. Its works speak for it, and find utterance in the abundant and voluntary testimony of the many who from long suffering and settled disease have by its use been restored to pristine vigor and health. We can present a mass of evidence in proof of our assertions, that CANNOT BE DISCREDITED.

THE REV. JACOB SECHLER,

Well known and much respected among the German population in this country, makes the following statement for the benefit of the afflicted.

HANOVER, PA., Feb. 16, 1859.

DEAR SIRS:—Having realized in my family important benefits from the use of your valuable preparation—Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry—it affords me pleasure to recommend it to the public. Some eight years ago one of my daughters seemed to be in a decline, and little hopes of her recovery were entertained. I then procured a bottle of your excellent Balsam, and before she had taken the whole of the contents of the bottle there was a great improvement in her health. I have, in my individual case, made frequent use of your valuable medicine, and have always been benefited by it. JACOB SECHLER.

FROM JESSE SMITH, ESQ., PRESIDENT OF THE MORRIS COUNTY BANK, MORRISTOWN, N. J.

"Having used Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry for about fifteen years, and having realized its beneficial results in my family, it affords me great pleasure in recommending it to the public as a valuable remedy in cases of weak lungs, colds, coughs, &c., and a remedy which I consider to be entirely innocent, and may be taken with perfect safety by the most delicate in health.

FROM HON. JOHN E. SMITH, A DISTINGUISHED LAWYER IN WESTMINSTER, MD

I have on several occasions used Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry for severe colds, and always with decided benefit. I know of no preparation that is more efficacious or more deserving of general use.

The Balsam has also been used with excellent effect by J. B. Elliott, Merchant, Hall's Cross Roads, Md.

HAWLEY'S

SOLIDIFIED DENTAL CREAM.

FOR CLEANSING, WHITENING AND PRESERVING THE TEETH!

THIS article is prepared with the greatest care upon scientific principles, and warranted not to contain anything in the slightest degree deleterious to the teeth or gums. Some of our most eminent Dental Surgeons have given their sanction to, and cheerfully recommend it as a preparation of superior qualities for cleansing, whitening and preserving the TEETH. It cleans them readily, rendering them beautifully white and pearly, without the slightest injury to the enamel. It is healing to the gums where they are ulcerated and sore. It is also an excellent disinfector for old decayed teeth, which are often exceedingly offensive. It gives a rich and creamy taste to the mouth, cleansing it thoroughly, and imparting a delightful fragrance to the breath.

Prepared only by A. HAWLEY & CO., N. W. Cor. 10th, and Lombard Sts., Philadelphia.

And sold by all Druggists. Price 38 cents

TESTIMONIALS.

The following opinion of Dr. White, as to the high esteem in which he holds the Dental Cream, must be sufficient evidence of its value; to quote other testimonials in detail is needless, contenting ourselves by simply giving the names and addresses of persons who speak of its excellency for the teeth.

PHILADELPHIA, April 15, 1863.

Having carefully examined A. Hawley's "Solidified Dental Cream," I hereby cheerfully recommend it to the public generally.—It is an excellent preparation for cleansing and preserving the teeth, and can be used by all persons with the utmost confidence, as its properties are perfectly harmless. Besides preserving the teeth, it promotes a healthy action to the gums, and imparts a pleasantness to the breath.

The One Thing Needful.

PHYSICIANS, with a unanimity that is truly remarkable, now recommend to their patients the use of Dr. HOOFLAND'S GERMAN BITTERS, as a preventive against all sorts of weakness. They give tone to the system, by purifying the blood, and invigorating the digestive apparatus. Mothers who are nursing, and old men find them invaluable.—They should be introduced into our Hospitals, and if they were more generally used among our soldiers, all camp diseases would disappear. These Bitters have been before the public over fifteen years, and their popularity is still on the increase. Their reputation is known in every country upon the globe, and in fact they are more universally used than all others. We do not urge any one to take these Bitters, who imagine that no benefit will be derived therefrom, but this we do know, that those who have used them, would not be without them for the world. The New Skirt for 1864.

A NEW AND GREAT INVENTION IN HOOP SKIRTS.

THE DUPLEX ELLIPTIC (or double) Steel Spring. J. I. & J. O. WEST, No. 97 Chambers street, New York, are the owners of the patent and exclusive manufacturers of this J. W. Bradley's Patented Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt.

This invention consists of Duplex (or two) Elliptic Steel Springs, ingeniously braided tightly and firmly together, edge to edge, making the toughest, most flexible, elastic and Durable Spring ever used, enabling the wearer in consequence of its great elasticity and flexibility to place and fold it when in use as easily and with the same convenience as a Silk or Muslin Dress. It entirely obviates the only objection to Hoop Skirt, viz: the annoyance to the wearer as well as the public, especially in crowded assemblies, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, or in any crowded place, from the difficulty of contracting them and occupying a small space. This entirely removes the difficulty, while giving the Skirt the usual full and symmetrical form, and the lightest, most stylish and graceful appearance for the street, opera, promenade, or house dress. A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort and great convenience of wearing one of the Duplex Elliptic Spring Skirts for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with the use of them. They are also desirable and a great improvement over other kinds of Skirt, to Misses and Young Ladies, with their short dresses; the elasticity and flexibility of these prevents [illegible] on the other side of the Hoops [illegible] they are so much more durable and not likely to bend or break [illegible]. The bottom rods on all the Skirts are also double steel and twice or treble covered to prevent the covering from wearing off the rods when dragging down stairs, stone steps, &c., which they are constantly subject to when in use. All are made of the best quality of corded Tapes, and every part of the Skirts is of the very best materials, and is guaranteed in every respect to be by far the best, most comfortable, and most durable Skirt ever made.

Mariner, Consulting Chemists, Chicago, all of whom have analyzed the Catawba Brandy and commend it in the highest terms, for medicinal use.

Analysis of the Massachusetts State Assayer,
Boston, [illegible] 2[illegible], 18[illegible].

When evaporated through a clean glass retort, it leaves no offensive matter. In every respect it is a pure spirituous liquor. The Oil which gives to this Brandy its flavor and aroma is wholly unlike fusel or grain oil. It partakes of both the fruit and oil of grapes. With acids it produces ethers of a high fragrance. The substitution of this brandy for Cognac Brandy will do away with the manufacture of fictitious spirits, sold under this name both at home and abroad.
Respectfully,
A. A. HAYES, M. D.
Assayer of State Mass. 16 Boylston St.

Boston, [illegible] 1864.

I have analyzed "L. Lyon's Pure Catawba Brandy," with reference to its composition and character, being the same as that produced in past years. A sample taken from ten casks yielded the same results with regard to purity, a slightly increased amount of the [illegible] was determined by comparison with former samples.

The indications of analysis show that this brandy is produced by the same process as that of the imported Brandy. Respectfully,

A STANDARD POLITICAL WORK.

McPHERSON'S

Political History of the Rebellion.

THE Political History of the United States during the Rebellion—extending from November 6, 1860, to July 4, 1864, by Hon. EDWARD McPHERSON, Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, is destined to become a standard authority concerning these stirring times, and is among the most useful and interesting books now before the public.

It contains the various STATE PAPERS of the period—Executive, Judicial, and Legislative—and those of the Military which bear upon political questions; also the Propositions submitted to and the Laws enacted by Congress, with the vote in each House, upon every leading question, such as Confiscation, Arrests, Habeas Corpus, Compensated Emancipation, and every phrase of the Slavery Question, also the "Legal Tender," State Taxation, and other features of our Financial Legislation, with tables of the National and Rebel Debt; all the Military Legislation, including every Proposition and vote at the late Session respecting the Draft, and all the Propositions for the last four years in reference to the Objects of the War and its Prosecution, to Peace and Reconstruction, with the votes thereon, in both the Union and Rebel Congresses—a record, of itself, worth the price of the book.

It also contains a full and fair record of the proceedings in and out of Congress between the Presidential Election of 1860 and the breaking out of the War, including a statement of each Adjustment Proposition made, and votes taken and all other data necessary to give a clear view of that event in all its bearings and relations. It also contains the names of the persons composing the Union and Rebel Administrations and Congresses, with the changes therein, and such of the Rebel Legislation, Judicial Rulings, Proclamations, Orders and Items as throw light upon the progress of events—the work forming a magazine of facts arranged in logical order or grouped in natural harmony, and constituting a most valuable contribution to the Historical literature of the country.

In all the votes, parties are classified.

The Index is thorough, both as to names and subjects, giving the reader entire command of the contents.

Election Incidents and Wagers.

Some curious wagers were made on the result of the late election. A citizen of Trenton, N. J., in case McClellan carried the State, was, on all the pleasant days of a week, (which he had the reserved right to select,) to eat a frugal dinner on the steps of the court house, said dinner to be served to him by boot-blacks in the filthiest state of dilapidation. In Chicago, an ex U. S. marshal will, according to the terms of his wager, be compelled to pay for and eat four dinners with such colored company as the fortunate winner of his wager may select. In Binghampton, N. Y., there is a lady whose suitor was a strong supporter of McClellan. So certain was he of his favorite being the favorite of the people, that he proposed to his sweetheart that in case of Lincoln's election he would promenade the public streets at high noon day, with a large placard on his back inscribed "Sold," never dreaming that he would have to fulfil his promise. But on Wednesday last, having discovered his mistake, he was forced to execute his promenade, much to his own disgust and to the delight of small boys and the amusement of children of larger growth.

The New York Sun mentions several other wagers as follows:

One man, a democrat, bet that M'Clellan would be elected. In the event of his losing, he was to saw and split a cord of wood at a certain hour in the day, in front of one the principal hotels; and in case he failed to do his work, even to the last stick, he was to forfeit $250. Another promised to walk a mile and a half barefoot, in case his candidate is not elected, the penalty in case of failure, being a hundred dollars; a third is to wheel a barrow filled with stones and earth through the streets, or forfeit $500; a fourth, a Union man, promises to wear a most ridiculous made hat during the four years of office of the successful office of the successful candidate, and as the said candidate was his man, there is but little doubt but he wants to advertise himself as a Lincoln man, and probably hopes thus to get a fat office.

Economizing Coal.

The Scientific American gives the following useful hints upon this subject, which are confirmed by every one's experience who understands the philosophy of coal-fires:

"A good bright fire can be steadily maintained with coal, with less trouble than with any other kind of fuel, but not by raking, poking and piling in green fuel continually. After breakfast the fire should be cleared of ashes, if there are any, and fresh fuel put on to fill the grate moderately.—Let the oven damper be turned up, so as to heat it, and leave the small top door open, more or less, according to the intensity of the heat required. In this way air enters over the top of the fire, and maintains a far better combustion and consequently greater heat than when the draft dampers are thrown open. A washing can be done or 'ironing' accomplished with one third less coal than is generally thought necessary to use. So far as sifting ashes for the cinders they contain is concerned, it is hopeless to expect much change. Hundreds of poor families in cities live off of the waste of their improvident neighbors, and in this way there is something used which would otherwise be lost; but it seems too that charity should be practiced in a different and more positive manner. If the proverb be true that charity begins at home then we have a still greater argument against the wasteful practice. Cinders will burn admirably in small cylinder stoves, and heat a nursery or laundry as hot as it should be. Every shovel full saved is a shovel-full of coal put in the cellar, and a hint to the wise is enough on this point."

A REMARKABLE WOMAN.—Mrs Peggy Fite, who died a few days ago in Wilson county, Tenn., was one hundred and three years old on the 1st of March last. Her husband, Leonard Fite, was a soldier of the Revolutionary war, and fought through that struggle as a private, having steadily refused promotion. Mr. and Mrs. Fite emigrated to Tennessee from North Carolina, and settled in Nashville when the place was known as Nash's Lick. In those days Mrs. Fite often assisted in moulding bullets while her husband and others belonging to the "settlement" were defending themselves against the attacks of the Indians. On the 12th of April, 1861, a large number of her descendants met at the house of Jacob Fite and celebrated the one hundredth anniversary of her birth. At that time she had eleven children living—her oldest (a son) being eighty years old, and her youngest (a daughter) fifty-nine; seventy six grand children, three hundred and five great-grand children, seventy one great-great-grand children, and two great great-great-grand children; in all, four hundred living descendants. At the time of her death her grand children of the fifth generation had increased to twenty-one, and her grandson feels quite certain her living descendants now number over five hundred.

GEN. SHERIDAN APPOINTED TO SUCCEED GEN. MCCLELLAN.—The following official order has been issued:

War Department, Washington, November 14th. Ordered by the President:—I. That the resignation of George B. McClellan, as Major General in the United States army, dated November 8th, and received by the Adjutant General on the 10th inst., be accepted as of the 8th of November.

II. That for the personal gallantry, military skill and just confidence in the courage and patriotism of his troops, displayed by Philip H. Sheridan, on the 19th day of October, at Cedar Run, whereby, under the blessing of Providence, his routed army was re-organized, a great national disaster averted, and a brilliant victory achieved over the rebels for the third time in pitched battles within thirty days, Philip H Sheridan is appointed Major General in the United States army, to rank as such from the 8th day of November, 1864.

By order of the President of the United States. E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General.

A GOOD SUGGESTION.—It is suggested that, on the principle laid down in the late Chicago Platform, which affirms that the war for the Union should be stopped because it has been prosecuted through four years without attaining its object, the party calling itself Democratic should, for that same reason, cease henceforth from trying to get into office. We commend the idea to their serious consideration.—N. Y. Tribune.

☞At a meeting of the Stockholders of the Bank of Gettysburg, on Wednesday last, it was resolved to change the Bank to a National institution. Some other name will, of course, be taken, but still the old Bank will be there. The old officers still continue.

☞The Bank of Chambersburg has been changed to a National Institution, as well as most of the principal Banks of the State.

Illumination at Emmittsburg!

There will be an Illumination and Jollification in Emmittsburg, on Friday evening next, 25th inst. Several Speakers will be present, and a handsome affair may be expected. The noble Union men of Maryland have, eminently, a right to rejoice over the regeneration of their State, as well as the secured possession of the Government by a true and patriotic party.

Painful Occurrence.

On Saturday last, a young man, named HENRY TURRELL, of Emmittsburg, who has been in the service, and lately discharged, was on his way to Gettysburg, to join the celebration here. In passing the house of Mr. PETER RODGERS, about a mile and a half south of town, he saw some flowers in the yard, and requested a few from Mr. R. The latter declined giving them, and TURRELL went into the yard and took them.—The result was high words between the parties—and RODGERS seized an axe near, and followed him out. TURRELL then fired, and shot RODGERS in the abdomen, inflicting a very serious wound. This is all we can learn of the affair—and refrain from any further remark, as the case will be legally investigated. TURRELL was immediately arrested, and is now in our prison, awaiting the result of the wound, whether fatal or not. The Grand Jury now sitting may probably take the matter in charge, if the wound should prove fatal.

☞Our neighbor of the Compiler has a few lines of our's about Gov. Seymour—and contrasts them with some eulogistic remarks of "The Age" upon that gentleman. Fortunately for us, the people of this region have no confidence in the honesty and truth-telling propensities of that Journal—so that we think that we come out unscathed in that little affair.

☞We have never found our up street Compiler friend "taken so much aback," as he has by the late election, and the Union crowd of Saturday. He can find but three lines to devote to the latter. It was the "hand-writing on the wall"—no wonder he does not like the demonstration.

Political Items.

It is believed, from the returns of the November election, that the popular vote, with the seceded States omitted, will be as large nearly as the vote of the entire Union in 1860. Mr. Lincoln will have a majority of about four hundred thousand, equivalent to the ninth of the entire vote. The same States in 1860 gave a majority against him of 138,784.

The election seems to have passed away quietly all over the country. In Indiana, where the "Sons of Liberty" have been vegetating for the past two years, there was not the slightest evidence that they were "500,000 strong." New York kept the peace quite as well as Philadelphia, despite the difference in the elements that make up its body politic.

The Pacific States share in the great uprising for Freedom. The N. Y. Tribune says that in California all the Union candidates for Congress are elected, and Lincoln's majority will be from 20,000 to 25,000. Oregon goes the same way by a handsome figure; and the new State of Nevada comes in with a Union Congressman and about 3,000 majority for Uncle Abraham.

The American people have decided that the war is not a failure, and that it shall be prosecuted with increased vigor, and that the rebels in the North must be made to suffer the penalty of their treason.

The effect of the November election has been such on the conductors of the New York Journal of Commerce that they announce honestly they intend to avoid the discussion of political questions. They propose to withdraw from the political field and devote themselves to the publication of a "good commercial and family newspaper."

The New York Daily News attributes their party defeat wholly to the War Democrats, who, it says, "should be shunned as the pestilence" henceforth.

THE CELEBRATION

ON SATURDAY LAST.

The demonstration of Saturday, in honor of the re-election of ABRAHAM LINCOLN as President, was the largest and most imposing witnessed in Gettysburg for the last twenty years. On no political occasion, within that period, have we seen as many people in the town. It overflowed with the gallant Union men of this County, of York and of the neighboring counties of Maryland. Notwithstanding the unfavorable weather of the previous days, at an early hour on Saturday, representations from various Townships began to assemble; and about noon, delegations arrived from Straban, Tyrone and York Springs; Butler and Menallen; Franklin, Hamiltonban and Liberty; Freedom, Highland, Cumberland, Mountjoy, Mountpleasant, Germany and Union—forming a huge procession of men on horseback, in buggies, in wagons, and in every imaginable conveyance. The Ladies were out in large numbers, gracing the occasion with their smiles and songs.—One of the beautiful features of the procession was a carriage filled with most interesting young ladies, all dressed in virgin white, numbering 22, each bearing a banner to correspond with the number of States that threw their votes to Mr. Lincoln. Their sweet voices added much to the scene, and gave an eclat to the affair which will be ever spoken of.

The procession was formed under the control of Col. C. H. BUEHLER, Chief Marshal; with Lieut Col. Fahnestock, T. D. Carson, Lieut. T. Norris, John M. Swan, Charles Boyer, and George Frey, as Assistants.

A friend who took the trouble to count, reports to us that there were in it—

34 Wagons,
287 Buggies,
391 Horsemen,
1600 Horses, and
3408 Persons.

Thousands of persons did not join the procession; yet it was the largest ever seen in the Borough.

The various Delegations were well handled by their Marshals, whose names we regret we are unable to get. We can only ascertain that of our good Union friends, J. HOSTETTER, Jr., of Union, and JACOB MICKLEY, of Franklin. We may probably hear hereafter, when the smoke blows away, and some clever friend may inform us of others.

After going through the town, the Procession was dismissed, and about three o'clock the crowd gathered in front of the Court-house, where they were addressed by Gen. WM. H. KOONTZ, Congressman elect from this District. His speech was in his best style. There was great anxiety to hear and see the Standard-bearer who received a majority of the qualified voters of the District, and whom a bold unscrupulous attempt was made to deprive of his certificate of election, by base and bad men. The General made a stirring and effective speech, to the great gratification of the large audience assembled.

He was followed by our talented townsman, Hon. EDWARD MCPHERSON, in his usual energetic and effective manner—which also told upon the audience. Both speeches were received with great enthusiasm.

The illumination in the evening was brilliant, and the Torch light Procession fitly closed the glorious exercises of the day. Most of the houses of our Union citizens were handsomely ornamented, and everything passed off in the most satisfactory manner. About 8 o'clock, General KOONTZ responded eloquently to a serenade, and between 9 and 10 o'clock the town resumed its wonted quiet.

The Chambersburg and Chegerstown brass bands, and several amateur vocal performers, enlivened the occasion, with some of the finest performers we have heard.

The whole affair was highly creditable to the Committee having it in charge; and the turn-out of our County friends was honorable to their patriotism. Many of the old men of the county illustrated by their presence, how deep is their joy that the votes of the People have preserved a Union which is enwrapped with their deepest feelings and sympathies, and which never will be surrendered but with the life.

Thanksgiving Day.

The President of the United States and the Governor of this State have each set apart Thursday the 24th day of November, as a day of Thanksgiving, Prayer and Praise. The President, in his Proclamation says:—"And I do further recommend to my fellow-citizens, that on that occasion they do reverently humble themselves in the dust, and from thence offer up penitent and fervent prayers and supplications to the Great Disposer of Events, for a return of the inestimable blessings of Peace, Union and Harmony throughout the land which it has pleased Him to assign as a dwelling place for our posterity throughout all generations."

☞A man thanks you the less for presents, the more inclined he is to give presents of his own; the beneficent is rarely a grateful person.

The Philosophy of the Presidential Contest.

Many partisans of warm blood and sanguine proclivities claim that the relative personal popularity of President Lincoln and George B. McClellan alone had to do with determining the late decisive result. Of course, their respective personal merits entered into the contest, and doubtless largely affected the result. But other and higher causes, says the Daily News, were the governing agencies, the predominating instrumentalities which ruled and finaled the contest.

The nation found that it stood upon the very brink of the abyss of ruin—upon the verge of the maelstrom of national destruction. A crater ready to pour out its volumes of fire, and heat, and smoke, to overrun and desolate the whole land, stood beneath its feet. But the good sense and practical judgment of the people intervened, and the impending danger was stayed—the hanging storm was dissipated—the columns of lava turned back. The nation stepped in between itself and death, and with the instinct of self preservation saved its own existence.

Many have assigned as one cause for the result, the patronage and power of the Government. This may have entered into the contest to a limited extent. But as the "outs" are always more numerous than the "ins," it is always evident that the mere parties occupying office do not, and never can, obtain a majority of the popular vote.

The grand secret—the only theory broad enough to explain this majestic uprising of the people in their own behalf—this grand awakening of the popular instincts, is their determination, despite party lines and party affiliations, to restore this great country to its complete territorial integrity—from the Gulf to the Canadas—from Arizona to Maine.

☞Mr. Wm. Sample, of the 54th P. V., in Sheridan's army, writes to a friend that while guarding some Rebel prisoners one of them told him that he himself had heard Gen. Early say that "he would be in Pennsylvania on election day, or in h—ll." There is no longer any doubt that the boasts of the Rebel papers that Early started for Pennsylvania on an electioneering tour "for the peace candidate" were correct, but the gallant Phil Sheridan somewhat spoiled this stumper's calculations, both military and political.

War News.

Information is reported to have been received at Washington that Ewell's and Early's forces have retreated up the Valley of the Shenandoah, pursued by Sheridan. It is said to be the opinion of officers in Sheridan's army that Ewell would leave a force at Lynchburg just sufficient to guard the head of the Valley, and send his main force to aid Bragg in repelling the anticipated movement of Gen. Sherman.

An arrival at New York from New Orleans on the 12th inst., reports that great excitement prevailed at Memphis, Tennessee, in consequence of reports that Beauregard was marching against the city with a large force from Corinth. Every preparation was being made for the defense of the place. General Canby's wound proves not to be so serious as was first reported.

A letter from the Army of the Potomac, received in Washington yesterday, says that inactivity still prevails, with the exception of the usual picket firing and occasionally a fire from the batteries. On Thursday morning all was quiet.

☞Advices from the Shenandoah Valley give further particulars of the pursuit of the Rebels through and beyond Front Royal by Powell's Division of cavalry, on Saturday week, and an account of another cavalry victory over the enemy by Generals Custer and Merrit on the same day. Gen. Powell sent back from the Luray Valley as the tangible fruits of his chase of Early's flying troopers, two pieces of artillery, one hundred and fifty prisoners, and a large quantity of ammunition. Custer's and Merritt's fighting consisted of several hours' skirmishing, the Rebels being finally driven back in great confusion. While this cavalry skirmishing was in progress, Early advanced his infantry as far as Middletown, but immediately withdrew on the defeat of his cavalry, and returned to Fisher's Hill. The Union losses in the engagement were very small, both in killed and wounded.—Early's infantry force is ascertained to be a considerable one; but Sheridan's men are in excellent condition and the best of spirits, and prepared for the Rebels whenever they choose to come on.

☞Some excitement existed some days ago, in the Western portion of Maryland and along our Border counties,—created by rumors of a Rebel raid. A report prevailed in Hagerstown, that a body of Rebels had crossed the Potomac, and Gen. Sullivan, commanding at that place, posted his forces in a position to give them a proper reception. No enemy was seen, but it is said by a correspondent of the Washington Star, that the telegraphic communication between Hagerstown and Frederick was cut near Boonsboro', on Sunday week. We believe that as long as Sheridan commands in the Valley there is no danger of a raid in any force. There may be a gang of five or six Rebel thieves on a plundering expedition similar to that recently attempted in Montgomery county, Md., but which ended so disastrously to the parties engaged in it. The people of Maryland and Pennsylvania will, should any of these plunderers venture near their homes, give them a warmer reception than any with which they have heretofore been greeted. The leaders of these forays across the border are generally recreant Marylanders, and should all receive the same fate as was meted out to Bowie by the farmers of Montgomery county, whom he had plundered of their horses, etc. Bowie, who was the leader of a gang of guerillas, was killed near his own home, and his entire gang captured or dispersed.

☞The Cincinnati Gazette of Friday last says it has advices that "Sherman is advancing from Atlanta towards Savannah river in two columns." On the 13th and 14th instant he was seventy miles on his journey, driving everything before him, and destroying everything behind him that could aid the enemy. The Gazette's theory is that one column of the army will go to Macon and the other to Augusta, where the important railroad connections with Savannah and the entire South will be destroyed. It gives Beaufort as his ultimate destination, where he intends to make the South Atlantic Blockading Squadron his future base of supplies if he needs one. It predicts that if he successfully carries out his programme, after a brief rest at Beaufort he can move through North Carolina to Danville, thus making Eastern Virginia a prison and a grave for Lee's army and the Rebel Government."

☞Deserters from Early's army confirm the report of his falling back to Staunton, where he will go into winter quarters.—The main portion of the Rebels were in the Valley, when last heard from, the men being in a wretched condition from want of clothing and proper food, and consequently much discontented. When General Early made his advances of Friday and Saturday, the 11th and 12th inst., resulting in the cavalry fights in which he was so severely worsted, he entertained the belief that Sheridan's army had been weakened by the sending off of large detachments to other points. Finding out his mistake, he was glad to make a hasty escape.

☞Private reliable news, dated Rome, Ga., 11th, says the destruction of manufactures, mills and other buildings of value to the enemy, at that place, was commenced at 8½ o'clock on Friday. The extensive rolling mills, stables and store houses were destroyed by order of General Corse.—Some places of minor importance were fired by the soldiers. The number of private residences destroyed was very small, and these were accidental. There was great rejoicing over the election.

☞Twenty notorious counterfeiters of Government currency, two of whom are women, arrived in Washington, on Thursday, from the west, in charge of an officer, and were committed to the Old Capitol Prison. These persons are said to be the leaders of gangs who have made Ohio, Indiana, Iowa and Missouri the principal field of their operations. With these counterfeiters were seized presses, plates, and a large quantity of material used in the manufacture of these base issues; and it is thought that by these captures the nefarious business in the States named has been pretty completely destroyed.

Gen Butler's Views of Peace.

Major General Butler had an ovation in New York on Monday evening. His speech on the occasion, is regarded by many persons as significant. One of the papers of that city, reports the substance of his remarks as follows:

"He stated his conviction that the result of the recent Presidential election was a moral victory for the national cause more important and decisive than a signal triumph of our arms. It was a demonstration of the willingness of the people to brave further sacrifices and sufferings, if need be, in defence of the unity and perpetuity of the Republic. It would so be regarded in Europe and in those portions of our country still under rebel domination. It would carry despair to the hearts of many, convincing them that the success of the rebellion was no longer possible. It would encourage and invigorate our armies, while paralizing the exertions of the rebels. It would everywhere be received as a proof that the Union is never to be surrendered.

He thought that our government might now proffer the olive branch to the rebels, tendering them liberal and even generous terms of adjustment in case of their return to the Union, and giving them a reasonable time—say till the 8th of January next—to signify their acquiescence; if they hold out then he would favor a most energetic and unsparing prosecution of the war to the end that the obstinately disloyal should be driven to Mexico or elsewhere—at all events, out of the country—and their estates divided among the Union soldiers who had contributed to their overthrow."

Frauds on the Revenue.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—The Advertiser contains the following in a special Washington dispatch, dated yesterday:

"The Revenue officers of the 9th Congressional District of New York have just discovered a fraud of the most stupendous kind, involving three of the largest breweries in the country. The proprietors, with all their appurtenances, as well as stock on hand, were seized.

The aggregate value of the property is not less than one million of dollars, all of which will be confiscated if the case is made out against the offenders. Half of the proceeds of the property will go to the persons discovering the fraud. The parties have been distilling for a long time without license, and without making returns and without paying any tax.

IMPORTANT TO THE FRIENDS OF SOLDIERS.—A note from Postmaster Bowen, of Washington, calls attention to a matter of moment in regard to the transmission of packages addressed to persons in the army. He says:

"A large number of packages, intended for the army, arrive at this office with the wrappers destroyed, or the address so mutilated that they cannot be forwarded, and are, therefore, necessarily sent to the dead letter office.

"If persons sending would take the precaution to write out on a card or slip of paper the full name of the officer or soldier for whom the package is intended, the number of the regiment and corps to which he is attached, as well as the name and postoffice address of the person by whom it is sent, and fasten the card or slip thus addressed securely to the contents of the package inside the wrapper, it will in all cases insure their safe delivery or their prompt return to the owner."

Missouri.

ST LOUIS, Nov 17.—Returns of the recent Presidential election have been received from about one half of the counties in the State of Missouri. They give Lincoln nearly twenty thousand majority on the home vote. The soldiers' vote in the Sixth district will elect Van Horn to Congress by from 200 to 500. In the Fourth District it is not definitely settled whether Boyd, the present encumbent, or Kelso, will be elected. Both are radicals. All the other Union candidates in the State (except Hogan, from this district,) are undoubtedly elected.

SENTENCE OF CONSPIRATORS.—For several weeks a military commission has been in session at Harrisburg, engaged in the trial of a number of citizens of Columbia county, Pa., charged with a political conspiracy, and resisting the draft. The result so far, is that John Ranty has been fined $1,000, and to be imprisoned two years in Fort Mifflin, Samuel Kline to be imprisoned two years and Wm. Appleman fined $500, and to be imprisoned until the fine is paid.

THE STORM ON THE LAKES.—Fifty Lives Lost and a Million of Property Destroyed.—The Detroit Free Press of Tuesday says:

"The arrival of the large fleet due from Lake Michigan has brought more definite intelligence of the damages sustained among the shipping by the late gale; yet, with all the information at hand, one-half of the numerous disasters which have occurred are not yet heard of, and some time will elapse, doubtless, before the full results will come to hand. To say that one million of dollars will not cover the total amount of the loss of property, may be considered as far below the actual estimate. The loss of life will probably not exceed fifty."

HARRISBURG, Nov. 19.—Complete official returns from all the October Congressional districts in the State, as received at the office of the Secretary of State, give a Union vote of 296,981, and a Democratic vote of 242,122—being a Union majority of 53,859. This includes both the home and soldiers' vote.

☞It is said by prominent friends of the administration that the sending of peace commissioners to Richmond is not now contemplated, and that the President will fully indicate his policy with regard to pacification in his forth-coming inaugural address.

☞The last Legislature passed an act to enroll and classify the Militia of the Commonwealth, with a view to be ready for the protection of the Border if it should be found necessary to call any of them out for that purpose. The Adjutant General, by order of the Governor, has directed the County Assessors to make that enrollment. We hope and expect there will never be any more necessity to call out our people for that purpose, but it is wise to be prepared for any emergency.

THE LADY'S FRIEND.

The December number of this magazine is a truly splendid one, being the handsomest yet issued. The opening plate, "The Snow bird's Christmas Visit," is a perfect gem; and the Frontispiece of the volume, suggested by a story of Hans Christian Andersen's, is one of those engravings upon which the eye will linger for a long time, and turn to again and again. Two more beautiful engravings than these are seldom seen in a magazine. The double Fashion Plate for this month is finely engraved and richly colored—no magazine contains superior steel fashion plates to the Lady's Friend; while the other engravings are as usual numerous, and doubtless highly interesting to the ladies. The literary contents are "The Christmas Gift," by Mrs. Hosmer; "Two Falls among the Mountains," by Mrs. Pyle; "The Soldier's Pride," by Mrs Barnes; "From the Same Stock," an amusing sketch relative to visiting your distant relations, by Frances Lee; "Cousin Caleb's Will," by Julia Gill; "My Aunt Guldbeater," by Mrs. Denison; "Who Did the wrong?" by Miss Virginia F. Townsend; &c. &c.

Price $2 50; 2 copies 4 00; 9 copies $16.00; 21 copies $35 00.

Specimen numbers will be sent to those desirous of making clubs for 15 cts.

More Rumors of Peace Propositions.

The Washington correspondent of the New York Herald writes as follows:

There is every probability that within a short time commissioners will be appointed by the President to present propositions of peace to the rebels at Richmond. The pressure upon him to do so was very strong before the election. Since then, he has been convinced that the adoption of this policy will completely silence the Copperhead faction and gratify a large majority of the nation. This course of the administration has been foreshadowed in Forney's editorials, in General Butler's speech, and in various other ways. It received additional importance from the fact that Mr. Lincoln particularly complimented General Butler upon that portion of his speech at the Fifth Avenue Hotel, and that he reiterated these peace sentiments in his address to day to the Maryland State Republican Committee. It is represented that the South have recently admitted that slaves already free are to remain free, and that for a continuance of war on their part the South has indicated its readiness to abolish slavery. Thus the great bone of contention is removed, and Mr. Lincoln may now with propriety present his programme of peace to the rebel leaders. It is considered a great card, and commissioners for that purpose will undoubtedly be appointed, if they have not been already selected, to proceed to Richmond for this purpose.

Arrest of Conspirators.

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—The following persons, charged with being implicated in a conspiracy to release the rebel prisoners at Camp Douglass, were arrested last night: C. W. Parton, Francis Adams, Obadiah Jackson, Jr., Jas. Larmon, Jas. Gary, and Mr. Semmes, a nephew of the pirate of that name.

Jackson, who is Grand Signor of the order, in an interview with the authorities, stated that in a meeting on the Sunday before the election, the subject of the release of the rebel prisoners was discussed, and Walsh, Gary and Parton stated that there were plenty of arms in the city for all the order, and the rendezvous for the distribution of the arms was indicated. At this meeting Jackson discovered that the objects of the organization were treasonable and he determined to expose it; but the military arrests made the same day, he thought, rendered it unnecessary.

SLEIGHING IN WISCONSIN.—A dispatch, dated Milwaukee on the 14th, says:

Some three inches of snow fell during Monday night, and there has been a constant jingling of sleigh-bells ever since.—There has been very little thaw since.
